While working with information related to the Census, I found this very important. As you may note, I imported my contacts into the new 2010 outlook and did a good amount of editing of the data. This video shows how to solve these issues that easily would have been able to get easily fixed with all the old versions of MS Office. My favorite P.O.V. to show how a person would never know that they are using the 2010 version. I got to see my data being cleaned up, and when you are using the data to bring in the average income of families, this does make a big difference. Anyways, when you do import the contacts, you will notice that they do not necessarily convert over immediately. You have to go in and do a lot of changing before you will be able to get it into the new format. If you notice that there are some names that are cut off for whatever reason, you will have to go through and get them to rename the entire thing. If you have any idea why this is happening, feel free to use this video and the comments to help me out a lot. I am always looking for ways to make these videos better throughout the process. Thanks for watching, and I hope this is an informative video. If you have any suggestions on anything else I could do for you, please comment below. ----- Follow me on twitter!
